Core Idea

the bond between mother and daughter

A girl's growth and a mother's letting go

Wedding

present & emotion & an all-knowing

Dog's point of view (First Person POV)

Overview

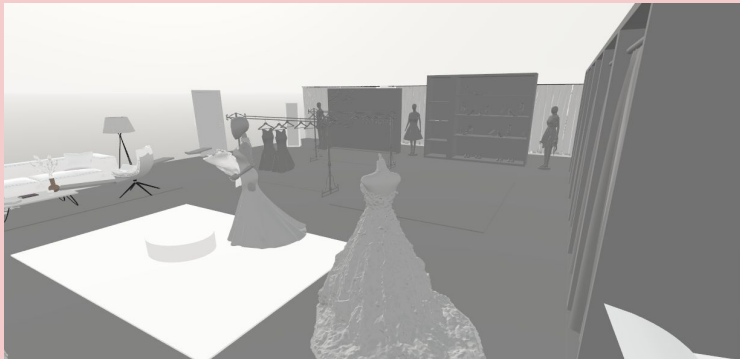

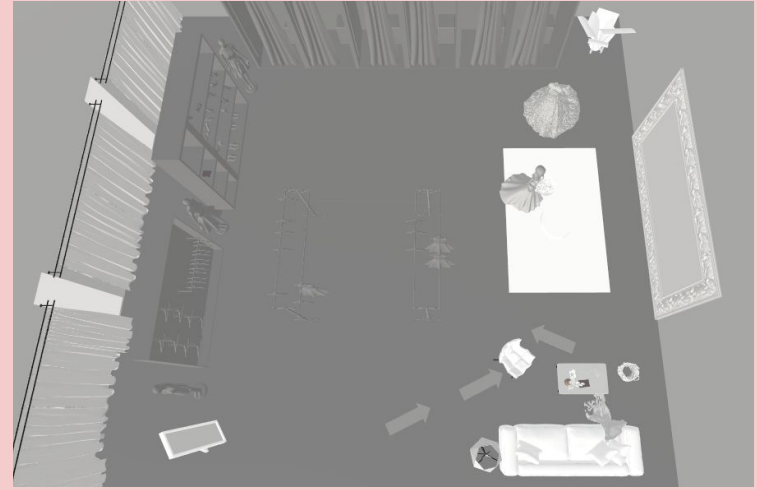

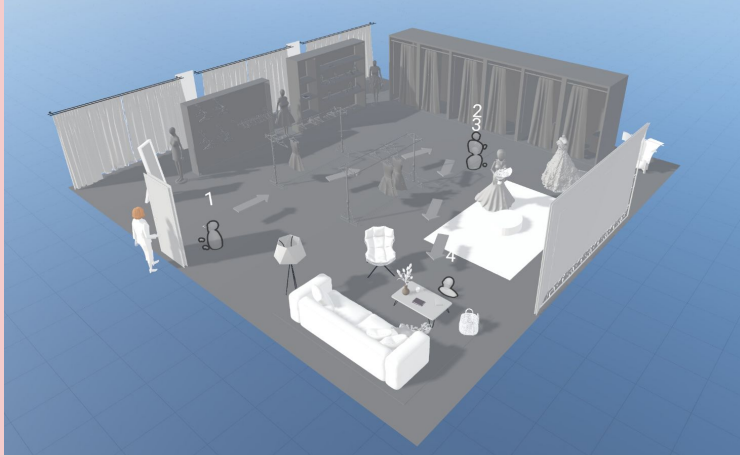

A bride wants a wedding in her own style, while her mother insists on a traditional ceremony that looks best and “lucky” in her. Throughout the planning, the bride keeps compromising, but she secretly cherishes a black wedding dress she hopes to wear for photos after the formal ceremony. When she discovers the dress is missing and her mother claims to have thrown it away, the two clash, and the bride finally explodes, accusing her mother of never respecting her independent choices. As the family dog, the player witnesses everything from preparation to the wedding day, knows the black dress was only hidden, and can help uncover the truth, ease the misunderstanding, and guide the mother to accept her daughter’s growth and independence—and, in the end, share her joy as she proudly wears the black dress.
